19

Musical notation for measures 19-22. The system consists of two staves: a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. Measure 19 features a complex chordal texture in the treble with sixteenth-note patterns, while the bass line is simpler. Measures 20-22 continue with similar textures, including various accidentals and slurs.

23

Musical notation for measures 23-26. The system consists of two staves: a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. Measure 23 shows a melodic line in the treble with a half note and a quarter note, followed by more complex patterns. The bass line provides a steady accompaniment.

27

Musical notation for measures 27-30. The system consists of two staves: a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. Measure 27 begins with a treble staff containing a half note and a quarter note, followed by more complex patterns. The bass line provides a steady accompaniment.

31

Musical notation for measures 31-34. The system consists of two staves: a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. Measure 31 shows a melodic line in the treble with a half note and a quarter note, followed by more complex patterns. The bass line provides a steady accompaniment.

35

Musical notation for measures 35-38. The piece is in 3/4 time. The right hand features a melodic line with eighth-note patterns and grace notes. The left hand provides a rhythmic accompaniment with eighth-note chords and single notes.

39

Musical notation for measures 39-42. Measures 39-41 continue the previous texture. Measure 42 is a repeat sign with two endings. The first ending (1.) leads to a cadence, and the second ending (2.) leads to a final cadence. The right hand has a melodic line with grace notes, and the left hand has a rhythmic accompaniment.

Source

GB-Lbl: London, British Library, MS Add. 39569 (London, 1702).

Thirty-three Lully pieces entered by Charles Babel (ca. 1634–1716) whose hand is neat and consistent. Same hand as that in Tenbury.

The Lully pieces are sequenced into Babel's compiled "suittes," a term evidently taken from Dieupart's Six Suittes de clavessin (Amsterdam, 1701), from which twenty-three pieces were copied into Babell. Each key group is carefully designated "suite" with a number. Thirteen (out of 29) of the suites contain Lully arrangements, and seven use the overture as an opening movement (nos. 7, 15, 17, 21, 23, 26, and 27). On the basis of concordances, it appears that many of the arrangements in Babell also circulated in central Parisian sources. Gustafson brings up the possibility that Babel, rather than making his own arrangements, could have assembled his Lully arrangements from sources that also contain the remainder of his Parisian repertory.

Performance Notes

In the seventeenth century, the notation is under-prescriptive by modern standard and some elements of the performance may only be partially indicated or not indicated at all. Generally speaking, the performer has the discretion to supply in performance much that is not indicated in the source, such as by adding ornaments as well as melodic and rhythmic fillers, by spreading chords in a variety of ways, by embellishing the cadences, and sometimes even by enriching the texture with points of imitation. The modern performer can take lessons from D'Anglebert, who re-edited a selection of his autograph pieces for publication in 1689.<sup>1</sup> The performance attitude and elusive nature of the seventeenth-century French repertory has been exhaustively discussed by David Fuller, Ronald Broude, Bruce Gustafson, and
