

Second Rigaudon Acis et Galatée, 1686

F-Pn Rés. Vmd. ms. 18 (LaPierre), no. 37, fol. 41r

LWV 73/7

The first system of musical notation consists of two staves, treble and bass clef. The treble staff begins with a quarter note G4, followed by eighth notes A4, B4, C5, B4, A4, G4. The bass staff begins with a quarter note G3, followed by eighth notes A3, B3, C4, B3, A3, G3. Both staves feature a series of eighth-note patterns with accents. The system concludes with a double bar line and repeat signs.

F-Pn: Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale de France, Rés. Vmd. ms. 18. France (Paris?), 1687–1730.

Eighteen arrangements, entered by one primary French hand, presumably the teacher of Mademoiselle La Pierre and Mademoiselle Le Noble.

This source illustrates that Lully arrangements, alongside original compositions such as those by Chambonnières, Favier, Hardel, La Barre, and Monnard (the other composers identified in this manuscript), were used as teaching materials for the music education of aristocratic ladies. The music was entered from both ends of the book, and many of the pieces in the later sections were copied, some in quite different versions, from the 1687 end by the same hand, which probably belongs to the teacher. Concordances among the Lully pieces are as follows:

First	Second	Third	Title	LWV	key
8	36	51	Rigaudon	73/6	C
9	37	52	Second Rigaudon	73/7	C
14		66	Menuet	63/12	G
15		63	Chaconne	61/40	G
23		48	Descente de Mars	51/5	C
24		50	Marche	51/30	C

Edition: WLSCM, eighteen pieces (nos. 8–9, 14–5, 20, 23–5, 36–7, 48–52, 59, 63, 66).

Performance Notes

In the seventeenth century, the notation is under-prescriptive by modern standard and some elements of the performance may only be partially indicated or not indicated at all. Generally speaking, the performer has the discretion to supply in performance much that is not indicated in the source, such as by adding ornaments as well as melodic and rhythmic fillers, by spreading chords in a variety of ways, by embellishing the cadences, and sometimes even by enriching the texture with points of imitation. The modern performer can take lessons from D'Anglebert, who re-edited a selection of his autograph pieces for publication in 1689.¹ The performance attitude and elusive nature of the seventeenth-century French repertory has been exhaustively discussed by David Fuller, Ronald Broude, Bruce Gustafson, and others.²

The player can refer to the table below for guidance on the interpretation of ornament symbols commonly found in manuscript sources.

The image displays six musical examples of ornaments, each with a label above it and a corresponding musical notation in a grand staff (treble and bass clefs).

- Tremblement: Shows a note with a double wavy line above it, followed by a note with a single wavy line, and another with a double wavy line. The label "or" is placed above the first and third notes. The second staff shows a tremolo effect on the bass line.
- Pincé: Shows a note with a double wavy line above it, followed by a note with a single wavy line, and another with a double wavy line. The label "or" is placed above the first and third notes. The second staff shows a similar tremolo effect.
- Port de voix: Shows a note with a wavy line above it, followed by a note with a wavy line, and another with a wavy line. The second staff shows a similar wavy line effect.
- Cadence: Shows a note with a wavy line above it, followed by a note with a wavy line, and another with a wavy line. The second staff shows a similar wavy line effect.
- Coulé: Shows a note with a wavy line above it, followed by a note with a wavy line, and another with a wavy line. The second staff shows a similar wavy line effect.
- Harpegement: Shows a note with a wavy line above it, followed by a note with a wavy line, and another with a wavy line. The second staff shows a similar wavy line effect.

In “C” time, eighth notes in conjunct motion (mm. 1–3, 5–7, etc.) should be rendered long and short successively as if notated in dotted values. Further advice on the rhythmic convention of notes inégales and other performance practice issues can be found in the “Introduction”.
